MidEdenMemo

In last month's Memo introduction, Reverend Canon Katharine Butterfield said her farewells prior to her retirement. At the end of July, we held a lovely tea party for her at Melmberby Village Hall and on 4th August lots of people came to her final service at Kirkoswald. She will be greatly missed.

This month, sadly, I must announce my own departure as I will be completing my curacy (church-speak for 'vicar training') with the churches of Dacre, Watermillock and Matterdale. I start there in September but I won't be moving house until November. Although the move will give me opportunities to widen my experience, I should point out that it wasn't my choice and I am sad to be leaving.

I love Langwathby and the surrounding villages and I've been really happy here. Thank you to everyone who has made me and my little grey dog Nimble so welcome and have contributed so much to my ministry. It has been a pleasure and an honour. I will particularly miss going into Langwathby School on Friday afternoons.

But of course, it's not just Katharine and me who are facing big changes – everyone is dealing with change of some sort. September marks the start of the new school year, when little children start nursery and older ones move up a year or progress to secondary school. Parents have to adjust to their 'little ones' growing up, whilst others face a change in their health, or future plans.

Change can be exciting but it can also be sad and even when the change is good – such as when I first brought Nimble home as a little puppy! – it can also be a bit scary as we embark upon the unknown and wonder how we'll cope.

As I prepare to leave this beautiful part of the Eden Valley, let me encourage you to put your trust in Jesus who is always faithful and loves you more than you can imagine. He will be glad to walk alongside you through any changes that life brings.

May God bless you

Lindsay

CULGAITH VILLAGE HALL (AKA THE VICTORIA INSTITUTE)

For more information please drop us an email at culgaithhallbookings@gmail.com or phone Jacqui 0777 2205 776.

September is a quiet month at the hall, but things pick up in October.

- ◆ Pop choir restarts on Tuesday evenings at 7pm from 1st October.
- ◆ 5th October sees a photographic exhibition of Culgaith Tarn and a bulb sale, all in aid of Guardians of the Tarn (time to be confirmed).
- ◆ Also on 5th October at 5.30pm there will be a taster of a new 30 minute Dance Exercise class.

The big news is that the committee managed to secure funding to improve the heating in the hall, both temperature and efficiency, which will make it more welcoming and usable during the winter months. Anyone who has been in the hall on a winter's evening will know what a difference this will make. Work will begin at the start of September to improve insulation, install radiant heaters and new windows.

LITTLE SALKELD

Little Salkeld is the older of the two Salkelds. It was first recorded as Old Salkeld in 1164. Great Salkeld first appears as such in 1242 when it was held by the King of Scots and was “King’s Salkeld”. In the late 12th century, Little Salkeld was “Sause Salk” as its lord was the Queens’cook, who prepared the sauces. The name means “Willow Wood”.

Little Salkeld is part of Addingham parish, but has long had the Vicarage in it. In the late 17th century the Rev. William Sill built it from scratch; he was Vicar here from 1668 to 1673.

Previous lords of Little Salkeld begin with Gospatric (12th century). Then came the Salkelds, till the 1650s, when the last one had to sell up to the scheming Col. Cholmley, who bought the Vicarage for his wife and daughter though he was eyeing Edenhall. However, he died of gout soon after. It then passed through several owners till Lt. Col. Samuel Lacy bought it around 1790 and re-fronted it in fashionable Georgian style, and had Lacy’s Caves made. His father was a sea-captain from near Tynemouth. In 1836 the Colonel sold it and moved west of Eden, building Eden Lacy there; he died eleven years later. His grandson vanished in Australia. Long Meg and Her Daughters were on his land.

In the 1790s Little Salkeld had good soil but was stuck in old ways. In 1821 it had 24 families, one per house, totalling 111 people. Its pub was The Druid’s Head. (Long Meg was thought to be Druids’ work, then.) The mill was built around 1750. The bridge to Great Salkeld was there in 14th century and after, but fell in floods in the 19th century. In 1901 there was also the Long Meg “Alabaster Mine” (for plaster of Paris) and Thompson’s Paper Mill near the station. There was a grocer and seven farmers.

Thanks to Jeremy Godwin for his research.
